Apology by Taiwan Fylin Industries
To
Amsafe Bridport Aviation Products

Taiwan Fylin Industries hereby acknowledges that it knowingly used the intellectual property of Amsafe Bridport Aviation Products in the process of creating the technical manuals for the Taiwan Fylin Industries range of Air Cargo Net.

Taiwan Fylin Industries furthermore acknowledges that this copied material was used in manuals submitted to the Taiwan Civil Aviation Authority (TCAA) and, at the request of Taiwan Fylin Industries, through the TCAA to the US Federal Aviation Authority in the application for airworthiness approvals for Air Cargo Net.

Taiwan Fylin Industries furthermore acknowledges that by using, without the prior knowledge and approval, of intellectual property relating the airworthiness of products used on civil aircraft they have compromised international flight safety standards.

Taiwan Fylin Industries unreservedly apologizes to Amsafe Bridport Aviation Products for this act, undertakes to recover and return to the rightful owners all manuals and any copies made of those manuals, including those used in obtaining any aviation approvals, created from this stolen intellectual property.

Taiwan Fylin Industry unreservedly agrees that such actions were in breach of the laws of Republic of Taiwan and to respect the international rules governing the use of intellectual property in future.
