

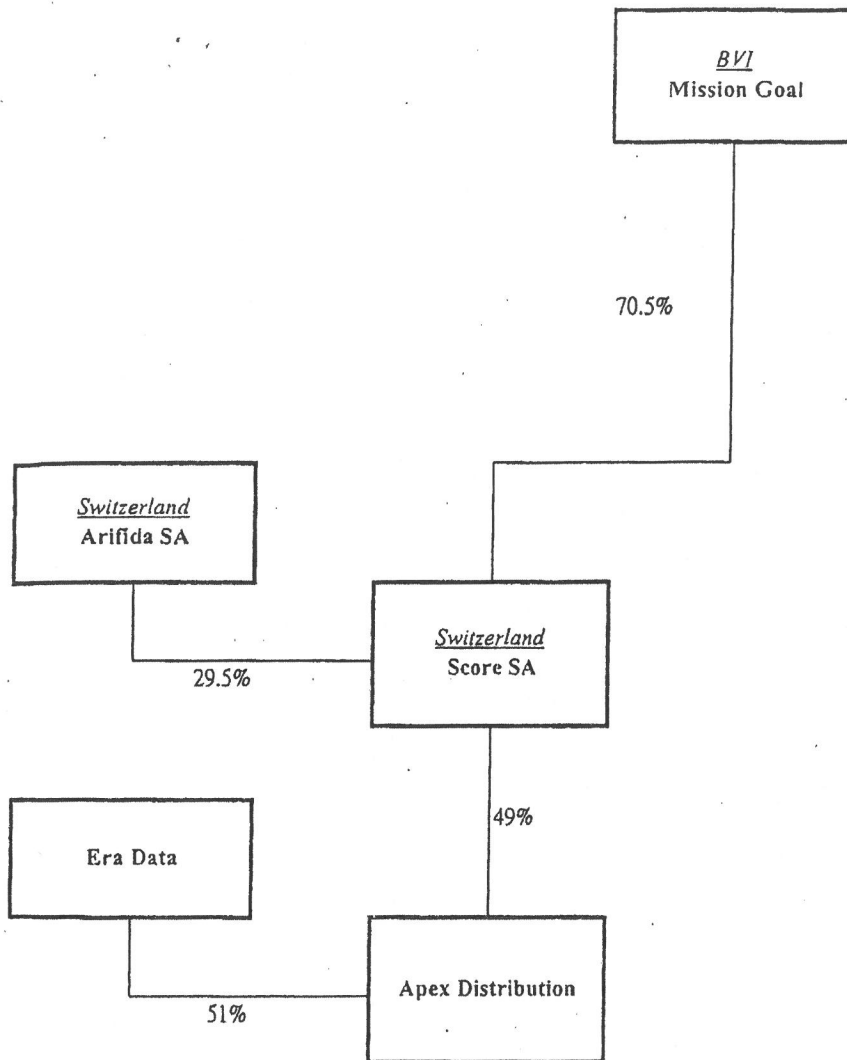

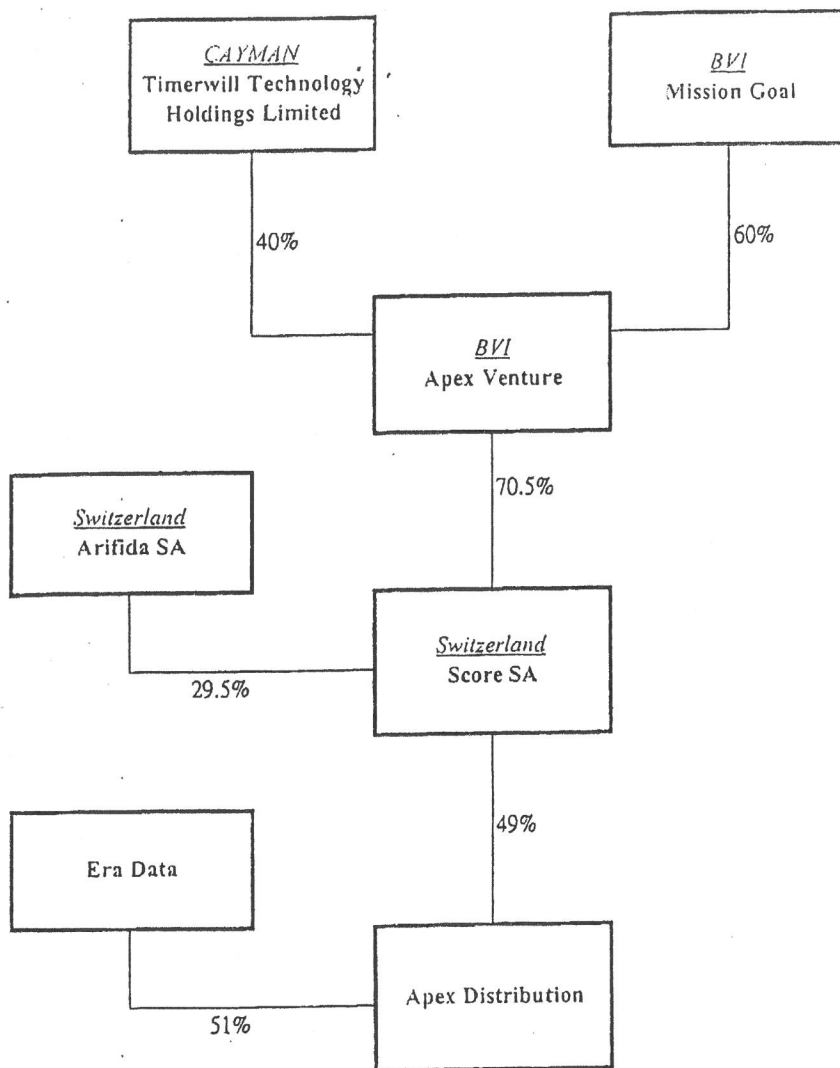

PLATE 2004-03

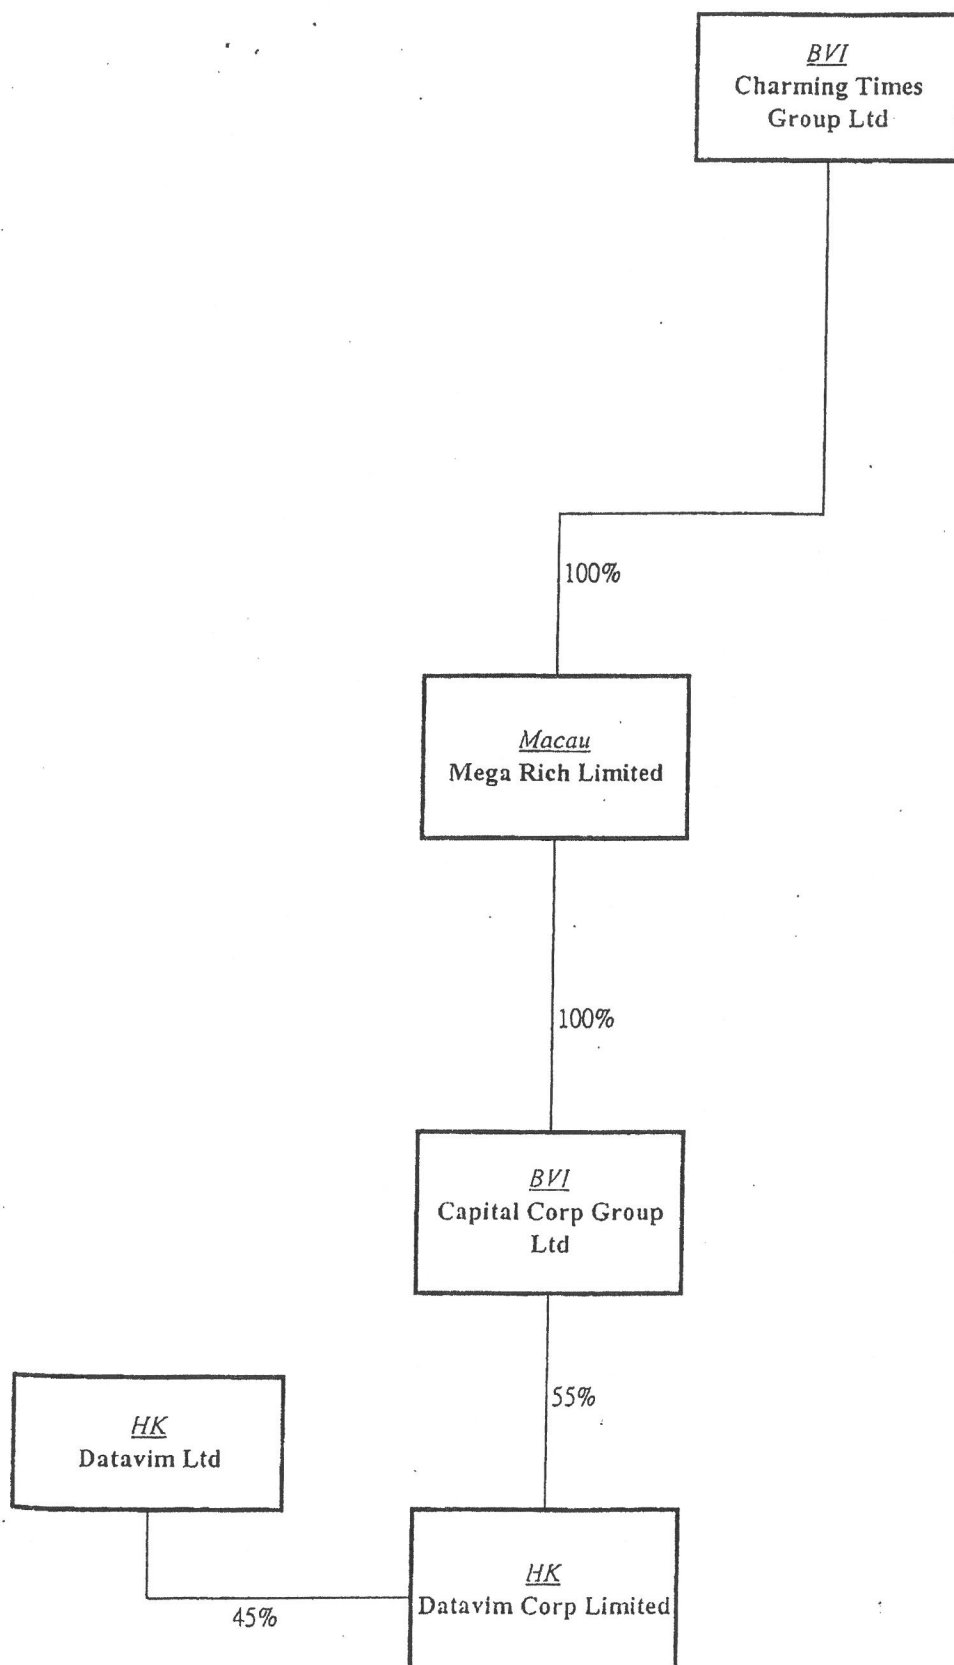

The diagram illustrates the ownership structure of the China National Petroleum Corporation (CNPC) group. The top level shows the ownership of the group by the Chinese government, represented by the State-owned Assets Supervision and Administration Commission (SASAC). The diagram branches down into various subsidiaries and their respective ownership percentages. The left column represents the majority of the group's assets, while the right column represents a smaller portion. The diagram includes numerous company names in both Chinese and English, along with their respective ownership percentages. The diagram is a detailed representation of the corporate structure of the CNPC group.
